His poetry gives its benevolence and ability to comfort, animate and enrich those in need. Daniel Ladinsky is a poet and interpreter of mystical poetry that wrote several books on Hafiz. Hafiz became incapable of an unfortunate act, it is said. In hundreds of Hafiz ways, he faces that it prevents us from living a more satisfying life. And studying life and working with the poetry of Rumi, Michelangelo, San Francesco, Kabir, Mira and Hafiz, and many other great poets-vegments of the East and the West, I learned that there was a wonderful denominator common in their work. And the impulse behind every single Hafiz line that I have ever written is to help light a candle in your heart, to satisfy our perennial need to have fun, laugh and dance, â to lift the corners of yours Bocca.â »The weight that can be on us in an hour or a day, Hafiz is to lighten it. And honors those who still have to honor. Art should be a lover; He should radiate and allow you to warm you if somehow cold. A sweet hug comes from the spirit of him perhaps omnipresent. Ralph Waldo Emerson and Johann Wolfgang von Goethe are both agreeing. Because when beauty does the witness, or the public, it always benefits from it. Looking lovingly in the eyes of the young woman, then he was gently talked about: "My dear, they dropped the knife. Hafiz helps us to inherit a treasure that is already our, decreed at the birth of him; And he talks about it directly in some of the poems of him â »How to present your request!"
